RACING AT UNITED HUNTS

The two-day United Hunts Meeting at Belmont Park last week proved that jumping meetings, despite high taxes and professionalized sport can still do considerably more than hold its own. The betting ante by which all race tracks must judge the success or failure of their organization was up a cool $200,000 from last year. Good racing marked the two-day meeting which included 4 jumping races and it is more than interesting to note that betting was higher this year at this jumping meeting than last year despite a drop of 300 in the attendance.

On a similar Wednesday at Belmont which marked the 59th running of the Lawrence Realization in which Counterpoint was running, the crowd totaled 15,426 and bet $1,385,226 or some 1,250 under the United Hunts' Wednesday attendance and $100,000 less in the betting figure. Figures can be used to prove many points on both sides of many questions, but there is no doubt that the jumping races at Belmont's United Hunts are a very pleasant change from regular racing programs and are as acceptable to the grandstand as to the club house.

United Hunts has played a very important part in upholding not only the amateur side of racing, but racing itself. In 1910-12 after being organized but 7 years it was able to step into the debacle caused by Governor Hughes' ban on racing and carry on the sport after all major New York tracks had been closed. Its meetings at Piping Rock were the only ones held in New York during the racing ban. By so doing, owners were encouraged to keep racing, new riders were brought along and trainers were able to stay in business until the United Hunts, through bringing the Paul Sahne test case as to Directors Criminal Liability before the courts, was able to restore racing to all New York tracks.

United Hunts' President, Amory Haskell, recently made a report to the members of the United Hunts Association and was able to point with real pride in the achievements of the Association during the post war years. By financially aiding amateur associations, the sport through the field was enabled to get on its feet again after the war years until from a 1943 low of 3 hunt meetings, the jumping meetings numbered 23 in 1950 with 31 days of racing and a purse distribution of $100,595.

By 1948 the Association had curtailed wholesale assistance. By 1949 only 3 meetings needed help after operating 29 racing days. When it is remembered that these meetings do not have pari-mutuel betting to count upon, have but one or two days for which they must set up their organization, get their horses, bring the crowd, before closing down again, it is clear that the efficient running and organizing of the amateur side of sport presents a real problem. It is all the more to the credit of the United Hunts that by solidly backing the smaller meetings through a time of crisis when many people were saying they were through, they were able to bring back this solid backbone of the sport of racing to a position of real importance in the racing scene.

Mr. Haskell gave in his report a chart of the growth of these amateur racing days. Ten years ago there were 19 racing days devoted to developing amateur riders, new owners and trainers at these small meetings. By 1942 this figure had risen to 24 racing days. The war years curtailed activity to 3 and then with the steady United Hunts support and supervision from the office of the Field Director, Chris Wood, Jr., the total of racing days by 1950 grew to 31 with the purse disbursements more than keeping up with the advance in racing days. In 1940 hunt meeting owners received $62,682. In 1950 this figure rose to $100,595.

With all of the tradition behind this sport, the interest and support of the majority of the greatest names in racing, proof of public interest and the real part steeplechasing has always played in bringing newcomers to racing, it is ridiculous to continue to adopt a holier than thou attitude to the jumping fraternity. England with a fraction of the population and racing facilities, maintains public interest in steeplechasing at a high pitch throughout the entire winter season.

Flat tracks close down and jumping meetings take over. If England can carry on a whole season's program with jumping horses and find as much public enthusiasm as is existent in flat horses, are not breeders and track managements missing more than a good bet by failing to properly support this side of racing before a thoroughly sport conscious American public? Jumping races can develop an Elkridge, can be responsible for two big days at Belmont, can make the Grand National in England practically a National holiday. Surely there is something more to sport through the field in America than the position of a foster child.

Letters To The Editor

Retiring

Dear Sir:

Today we want to bring to your attention a piece of news, that is in our locality greeted with dismay and regret.

Thomas R. Chalmers, who owned and operated the Royal Oak Stables in Deerfield, Ill. for a great number of years, has sold the place, in order to be able, at least temporarily, to retire and take a rest for a while.

A great number of people in our immediate area and far beyond, interested in riding, hunting and showing will receive this news with lively regret. To all of us it seems a great loss, because Mr. Chalmers has endeared himself to all he came in contact with, children and adults alike, in great measure through his kindness and patience. He was always most generous with his counsel and his advice is naturally much sought after, because of his thorough and extensive knowledge in his field. He has lived since boyhood in a world of horses in Great

Wistan Wins At North Salem

7-Card Program of Goldens Bridge Hounds Meets With Enthusiasm of Spectators

Jean Slaughter

With the help of a crisp October day and a perfectly beautiful course laid out around a lake in full view of the spectators, the Goldens Bridge Hounds and the Northern Westchester Chapter of the PHA held an extremely successful race meeting in North Salem, N. Y. on Oct. 12.

The first race was the ladies flat race. The horses got off to a good start, with Mrs. Howard Serrell breaking on top with her grey Rapidan. Mrs. Ransom Edwards took over the lead right away on her Beau Sabreur and Rapidan dropped back to 3rd position behind Mrs. Georginia Manville and Mountain Flag. After the 3-4 mark, Rapidan moved up on the pace again and came on to win by a neck ahead of Beau Sabreur. By Coq d'Esprit, Rapidan is really an all-around horse. Following his victory on the flat, he was headed for hunter trials and the hunting field.

The gentlemen's pink coat 'chase was run over timber. Away from the post, Richard L. Parish, Jr. went to the front on Suwanee River, followed by Roy Daly on Mountbatten, Gordon Wright on Grand Summit and Daniel McKeon on Crystal. Suwanee River led over the 1st fence and opened his lead to 5 lengths with the others strung out behind him. At the 3rd, Grand Summit twisted badly but stayed on his feet. Over the 6th, the water jump, Suwanee River, which was well out in front, refused and Grand Summit jumped past to take the lead. Mr. Parish had his horse over the fence quickly but not before Mountbatten had passed him as well. Crystal lost his rider.

At the fence just before the stretch, Grand Summit was leading but Mr. Parish sent his horse on and it was Suwanee River which led into the 8th. Between the fences Gordon Wright moved up on Grand Summit and the two horses jumped the 9th together. By the next fence, Suwanee River was in front by a length.

The horses raced down the back stretch, over the 11th and around the turn where Grand Summit came up on the inside to run head and head with Suwanee River. It was Suwanee River which pulled out ahead to win by half a length over Grand Summit, followed by Mountbatten.

The walking race was won by Mrs. Virginia Funk on Torchlight, which led all the way. The paddock opinion seemed to be that Mrs. Robert Schmid and Chickstraw might very well have been a greater challenge to the winner had he broken on top.

The North Salem Plate, about 1 mile on the flat, was a good one. Johnny Bell's little grey Meadow Brook was off to a fast start, with the rest of the horses hunched, but as they passed the stands, Richard Gilyard on Stockade was establishing the pace, followed by Pert's Pet. Although Peter Van Sands moved up with the leader on Pert's Pet, Stockade finally pulled ahead to win by a scant half-length with Mrs. Georginia Manville and Mountain Flag finished 3rd behind Pert's Pet.

Five horses went to the post in the children's flat race. Miss Lynn Diner's good looking horsemanship horse, Gin Riffle, by Omaha, was the heavy favorite. As the horses paraded past the stand, Gin Riffle nearly unloaded his jockey with a series of rugged bucks, but Miss Diner stuck with him.

Across the finish line, Wayne Ashworth was the winner on San Pedro with Gin Riffle placing at the ex-

At the Rate Armageddon Was Going In the Last Quarter, Greyhound Could Have Pressed Him

Joe H. Palmer

Belmont Park's fall meeting, hampered by one thing and another, closed on October 16 with results that were at least gratifying under the circumstances. The attendance was up by 788 immortal souls a day, which amounts to 3.7 per cent. These must have been highly speculative immortal souls, for they raised the handle by $145,801, which seems to mean that they bet $185 daily. At all events the betting was up by 8.8 per cent. This was good enough, no doubt, but the fact remains that only one meeting in New York this year has shown a smaller increase in betting; that was Belmont in the spring when the gain was 7 per cent.

Contrasted with Aqueduct's 10.5 gain in attendance and 22.5 per cent in betting, Belmont does not look very gaudy. This is a problem I ponder annually, and in some respects the apparent answer pleases me. Belmont, you must know, offers its patrons more space and better facilities and better racing than either of the other Long Island tracks. It draws very well, but not in comparison to the others when its merits are considered.

The only significant difference seems to be that at Jamaica and Aqueduct, particularly at the latter, the customers are right on top of the horses. When a six- or seven-furlong race breaks at Aqueduct, for the first two or three days of the meeting, I'm sure the leaders are going too fast, as indeed they sometimes are. But their nearness to the stands produces an illusion of unusual speed.

At Belmont, in the same sort of race, the horses are hell and away over yonder, and it's a keen-sighted man who can pick his colors out of the band. And except in races at a mile and a half or more, Belmont's customers never see a start. As a matter of theory I like the Widener chute, because it permits large bands of 2-year-olds to start, and there is no shuffling for position on turns. Horsemen, in fact, insist that the inside positions are the worst, because the track is deeper on the left, but this is usually more a matter of faith than the result of going out and measuring the depth of the top soil at various points.

It is frequently asserted that people come to the races merely to bet, that they do not care about the horses, and that they are not interested in racing as a sporting spectacle. Belmont's figures seem to disprove this. This situation seems to be that people will put up with the greater congestion at Aqueduct and Jamaica, because they can see better. I'm rather in love with Belmont, but it isn't going to have much greater popularity as long as it has a mile and a half oval, with the starts over in Floral Park, and those secret races down the chute.

If the Champagne Stakes, which featured the closing day, produced a classic winner, the prediction here is that the Kentucky Derby will be won in 2:14. On a fast track, too. The Cain Hoy stable of Harry Guggenheim got the $24,050 with Armageddon, which had raced only once before in a stakes event and had his ears pinned back. But the leaders, which were Baybrook and Jet's Date, with Jet Master close up, must have been under the impression they were running in the Babylon. They went a quarter in :22 3-5, a half in :45 4-5, and six furlongs in 1:11 1-5. At that point they must have figured that was as far as horses ran, for they all stopped. The final quarter was run in 27 seconds, but that wasn't Armageddon's time. He was five lengths off the pace at the top of the stretch, so his time for the last quarter mile must have been about :28. This would have been sensational at Roosevelt Raceway, but that wasn't where the Champagne was being run.

Armageddon may be a good colt, but he had no way to prove it in the Champagne. He is by Alsab, which has yet to come up with a good 3-year-old, out of Fighting Lady, by *Sir Gallahad III, and he is home-bred. He ran second first out, and then beat Hannibal, which was fairly good, in a maiden race. He tried stakes company next out, and finished fifth behind Primate, Prize Ring, and others. Then he was put up for the summer, and made his fourth start at Belmont on October 5, winning nicely down the chute. The Champagne was his fifth, and he has now earned $29,850. That's very creditable, but he's got to do that last quarter faster before he makes much impression on me. At the rate he was going, Greyhound could have pressed him.

Going into the final day at Belmont, Willie Shoemaker was in front for jockey honors, with 20 wins to Ted Atkinson's 15. Ted won the fourth race on Timely Reward, which ought to win him some honors right there, because the horse voted strongly to stop this nonsense at the sixteenth-pole. Even his trainer, George Odom, remarked afterward, "Did you see him looking at those horses in the stretch? He really wanted to get out of there." It's pretty hard when a horse can't get a kind word from his trainer after he wins, but Timely Reward didn't. He didn't deserve one, either; he's been a first class sucker horse all year.

But anyway, this moved Atkinson to sixteen winners, and with four races left he could have tied Shoemaker, though this would have taken a quintuple. Shoemaker took care of this by winning the last four races himself, with not a favorite among the four winners, and wound up in front 24 to 16. As one man remarked, "He's the best horse that

Flannery Exhibition
Coincides With Book
By Elizabeth Flannery

One of our most interesting and talented American sporting painters has just completed a one man exhibition at the Kraushaar Galleries in New York. Among the paintings displayed is that of Pimlico, Maryland's historic racing landmark which opens its racing plant again this month, and which is published this week on the cover.

Mr. Flannery's painting of Pimlico is done in his own imaginative and creative style proving once again his rare ability to create a picture rather than simply to reproduce a horse. No one who has been to Pimlico can fail to catch the full flavor of this early morning scene with the old club house as the background. The charm of Maryland's racing establishment appeals to all race goers and it is as popular to the public in general as to its club members proving once more that the American public is just as proud of its good racing traditions as are their English contemporaries.

In addition to preparing for his exhibition which lasted from September 25th through October 20th, Mr. Flannery found time to illustrate a book written by his wife, Elizabeth Flannery entitled The Foaling Barn and published by A. S. Barnes. It is a book for children and is the first of a contemplated series already in preparation called The Weanling Barn, The Yearling Barn and The Training Barn. Mr. and Mrs. Flannery have long been associated with Thoroughbred breeding at their Cockade Farms, Darlington, Maryland. Their book with its wealth of wisdom based on experience can be as helpful to the older breeder as to the youngster for whom the book was designed. It is simply written and carefully illustrated. In a compact form, one finds the whole picture of the mare and her foal with Mr. Flannery's pictures a delight to the horseman's eye for their knowledgeable accuracy as well as for their artistry.

Mr. Flannery studied abroad where he early developed a deep appreciation for the French impressionists, Corot and Degas and the Spanish colorful, imaginative style as expressed by El Greco and the later Francisco Goya. His picture of Pimlico on the cover aptly shows the influence of these continental schools where the feel of a picture is more important than the picture itself and where the impression one carries away becomes more important and more unforgettable than the precise details of actual reproduction.

ever came from California."

He's going back there, too. There have been various reports that he's under contract to Brookmeade and would go to Florida. In the first place he isn't under contract to anybody, having bought up his own contract last year, and Brookmeade has only a first call on him during the season in New York. In the second he said specifically that he had commitments in California this winter. This is the season when press agents from Florida and California begin to ship horses and riders around, and they ought to quit it. John Gaver, for instance, was surprised to read that he was going to California with the Greentree stable, because he had planned to spend a cozy winter in Aiken. A few Greentree horses, including Guillotine and Big Stretch, but none of the tops, may go to California, but Mr. Gaver's mail will still continue to be delivered at Aiken.

Bogie Man, Seer, Espantoon Figure Strongly In Maryland Futurity At Laurel

Karl Koontz

The turf prophets, who try their hand at picking the winners before the field reaches the wire and the official sign is posted, found their sage predictions scattered to the four winds in the Maryland Futurity at Laurel on the 17th. Mrs. M. W. O'Connor's home-bred La Corredora (Little Beans—Nellie Mowlee, by Mowlee) was the only 2-year-old listed in the Daily Racing Form Expert's Selections under Consensus that even got a part of the money, (that being the share doled out for 4th). However, Bogie Man was named by one expert and Espantoon by another, but neither colt finished in the predicted places.

This is in nowise a criticism of these gentlemen, as on the same day of the Futurity, they gave out the winners Our Cookie, Trim Bull, Tenure, and Royal Helio in their respective races, and two other horses listed in the Consensus in the second slot, placed brackets before their names.

Adding insult to injury Mrs. R. H. Heighe's Seer (Zayin—Wise Sister, by Wise Counsellor) quoted in Sweep's Graded Handicaps as "chances appear slim" was the Futurity winner by virtue of the disqualification of B. Frank Christmas' Bogie Man. Sweep's comment on the latter was "can turn it on" and he certainly did.

It appears that those who do the selecting must have thrown the form shown in an allowance prep race (for produce of mares served in Maryland) on October 12, over the backyard fence. For in this race Mrs. Janon Fisher, Jr.'s Espantoon (Swing and Sway—Laelia, by War Admiral) came on and wore down Bogie Man to win by a length, returning $107.50 for the $2.00 invested with the mutuels. This brown colt, bred by Janon Fisher, Jr., is every inch a home-bred product of The Caves Farm on his dam's side, tracing back to the Fisher foundation mare Binnacle (Man o'War—Smoky Lamp, by Plaudit).

Mr. Fisher bred Binnacle to Blue Larkspur (the same nick that was used in later years to produce Tien Lien, dam of the Questionnaire stakes winner Double Brandy), and got Vanda Cerulea, which was a winner and she in turn was mated to War Admiral to produce Laelia, winner and dam of Espantoon. From Binnacle Janon Fisher, Jr. has gotten the stakes winner and sire Swashbuckler, and the producers, Vanda Cerulea, Rakish, Hipetyhop, Landfall, Lickety-split, and Tadiana. The latter is the dam of the *Alibhai stakes winner Artillery, now standing at Rolling Hills Farm in California.

Bogie Man (Golden Voyage—The Mount, by *Hilltown) bred, owned and trained by B. Frank Christmas, was a neck to the good of C. E. Tuttle's home-bred More Better (Cassius—Thine Alone, by Stimulus). Bogie Man's dam The Mount, was a winner and is a half-sister to Battle Colors, by Man o'War winner of the Will Rogers 'Cap, 2nd in the Hialeah 'Cap to Zacatine, and placed in other stakes. Bogie Man is a half-brother to the winning Saint's Mount.

More Better (Cassius—Thine Alone, by Stimulus) is from the distaff line of Etoile Filante, dam of High Quest, Fair Star, Evening Tide, Evening Shadow, and Sari. Thine Alone is the dam of the winners Cockles, Forevermine, Dolomite, Reigh Morse, Edna's Idyll and Fidelitas.

Seer is a half-brother to Wisenheimer, by *Piping Rock, who was bred by Mrs. Heighe and for her won the Havre de Grace Breeders Stakes. Wise Sister is also the dam of the winners Ataman, Skill, Shrewd, Clever, and Proverb. In this Futurity prep Seer finished in 7th place after being 10th at the quarter pole. The Form said, "...was unable to reach contention."

So coming up to the Maryland Futurity, Espantoon had made two starts, finished 12th in his first effort to Armageddon, winner of the Champagn Stakes 11 days later, and then won this prep race. Bogie Man had been a winner on two occasions at Aqueduct, once for $6,000 and then for $10,000, and his last effort was the second in this 3-4 mile dash. More Better took down the winner's share of the purse back on July 17, $7,500 claiming, and then third by a length and a neck in this allowance affair. Seer had not been in the winner's circle since July 3, a maiden race at Narragansett, and had done nothing outstanding recently. So all in all, can you blame the experts for looking past these four when seeking something to recommend to others.

But when the dust had settled on October 16, after the big race, Bogie Man was on the front end by a nose, Seer second by a length, then Espantoon a neck over La Corredora. But before the official sign went up, Bogie Man was shuttled back to

N. S. Scarrier's Bid Of $3,000 Tops Sale At Audley Farm

From under the green and white candy striped tent, on historic old Audley Farm, just outside Berryville, Virginia, on October 19, the master sales team of Swinebroad and Finney spurred along the bids on the sales offerings. The sale was listed as the Audley Farms Dispersal, but it should be noted here that the advertised "complete dispersal" did not transpire, inasmuch as many of those listed were bid in by the manager, E. Jones. There were two other complete dispersals catalogued (David N. Rust, Jr. and Mr. Robert C. Windmill) with consignments from numerous other breeders.

The old truism, that it costs just as much to feed a bad horse as it does a good one, is certainly coming home to breeders, and good horses are still bringing prices, while the bad ones are hard to give away.

Audley Farm's horses in training furnished the top price with the 3-year-old chestnut colt Admiral's Star (Grand Admiral—Miss Hoptown, by St. Henry) for which N. S. Scarrier gave $3,000. This colt earned $2,675 as a 2-year-old and had not started as a 3-year-old. Second high in this division of the sales was Audley's Miss Comedy, (Star Beacon—Honey Call, by Trace Call), a 4-year-old and winner of $5,580, for which William Long gave $1,600.

H. W. Shaffer went to $1,750 to secure the 9-year-old mare Pilate's Child (Pilate—Ruby Talbot, by *Bright Knight) in foal to Grand Admiral from Audley's consignment, for the top broodmare price, and also gave the top dollar for a weanling when he spent $1,600 for a bay filly by Star Beacon—Stella Elliott, by *Quatre Bras II.

Mrs. George P. Greenhalgh's dark bay mare Roman Descent (Pilate—Laura Branham, by Display) was knocked down to S. O. Graham for $1,300, second high in the broodmare range. David Rust, Jr.'s roan yearling filly by Halberd—Ginoroi by *Gino, topped the yearling division when Mrs. Evelyn Willing Bromley paid $1,600 for the attractive miss.

A great many of the offerings were bid in, and bidding on the remaining lot was certainly not brisk. For the total of 97 head put up, they brought a grand sum of $43,000, averaging out to slightly over $443.00 per animal.

third, for drifting in in the stretch drive and causing Espantoon to take up. So the official result now stands for the record as Seer winner, Espantoon second, and Bogie Man third.

Out of the 190 eligibles, only 10 answered the parade to the post. The winner was bred at Prospect Hill Stud, which is now a part of Boxthorn Farm, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bliss Flaccus. Seer's sire, Zayin was also bred by Mrs. Heighe, and in addition to the stakes winner Meringue, has to his credit the winners Combustion, Conspire, Bridle Path, Creel and others.

Temple Gwathmey First Stakes Win For Navy Gun; *Triomphe Victorious In Turf Writers Cup

Spectator

L. W. Jennings' Navy Gun came up fast on the outside and swept by Phiblant and *Palaja to win the $10,000 added Temple Gwathmey, feature event of the two day United Hunts Meeting. Navy Gun, which has had some bad breaks in his stake forays this fall, was favored by luck in the Gwathmey. At the last fence he was third with both Phiblant and *Palaja in front of him, but crossing the Widener chute, the riderless Hampton Roads bore in and all but carried both Phiblant and *Palaja up the chute. Both horses were racing neck and neck at the time, and unquestionably both were seriously bothered.

*TRIOMPHE (No. 3) taking one of the hurdles in the N. Y. Turf Writers Cup. The 4-year-old daughter of Tourbillon won in a driving finish, by 2½ lengths, over Mrs. G. H. Bostwick's Hyvania.

Meanwhile Adams up on Navy Gun had clear sailing on the outside and passed his rivals a scant hundred feet from the wire. His winning margin was 1 1-2 lengths while Phiblant and *Palaja carried their duel right down to the wire to dead heat for the place. It was fourteen lengths back to Tourist List for fourth and then Lone Fisherman, Genancoke and Port Raider finished in that order some distance apart.

It was a hard fought contest and a good race for the first three horses, but the race had a tragic aspect for it marked the final race for James C. Brady's Boom Boom. Top weight at 152 lbs., and second choice in the betting, Boom Boom seemed to make but a slight error at the third fence, but fell and broke his neck. McDonald, his rider, was thrown clear and was not injured.

The second time around, Hampton Roads with young Raymie Woolfe in the saddle also came to grief at this same fence. He was just starting to make his move, and had moved up to third at the time, and gave the impression that he might have been the one to beat.

*Palaja, in contrast to some of his previous races, was sent to the front immediately after the break, and his rider, the Australian McKensie, kept him there until Genancoke took command a full turn later. Down the far side the second and last time, Genancoke continued to lead the way with *Palaja a close second and then Hampton Roads. When the latter was eliminated at the twelfth fence, Phiblant took over the third spot, and he together with *Palaja went by Genancoke rounding the last turn.

Meanwhile Adams, had slowly worked his way forward and went by the tiring grey on the turn, and then set sail for the leaders. He gained on them coming down the stretch, but was still several lengths away when the two leaders crossed the Widener Chute. However, Navy Gun was running strongly, and might have won even had Phiblant and *Palaja free racing room in the last hundred yards or so.

The Gwathmey was Navy Gun's first stakes victory and also his first win over brush at the big tracks. He had a hard race in the Brook when he was in a contending position and then fell at the penultimate fence, and again had a hard race in the Grand National one week ago when he placed behind Oedipus. There is no question that on the strength of his Gwathmey triumph that he is a tough little horse, but much credit is due to his trainer, Billy Jones, who achieved almost the impossible in getting him to the post in the National and the Gwathmey after his hard fall in the Brook.

Secondary event on Thursday's United Hunts card was an allowance race over hurdles named in honor of the late Louis E. Stoddard, Jr. It was an exciting race, and a hard fought one right down to the finish line with Manton B. Metcalf, Jr.'s 3-year-old, Beaupre prevailing in the stretch drive. His winning margin was a length in front of Knocks Twice, another 3-year-old, who was another length in front of Sugar Coated, while Blue Plate, also a 3-year-old, was fourth a head behind Sugar Coated. Quaker Miss, the even money favorite, jumped rather indifferently, was third at last hurdle and then hung, finishing fifth, although beaten less than four lengths for all the money.

The day previous, The New York Turf Writers Cup featured the day's racing, and it too like all the stakes through the field this Autumn was a good contest and an interesting race. Off a very impressive win over hurdles a week ago, the crowd made *Triomphe, a French-bred 4-year-old filly, a very close second choice in the betting to the G. H. Bostwick trained entry of Hyvania and Stunts. Paddy Smithwick was up on the filly, and when he asked *Triomphe going down the far side, she responded quickly, went by horses to gain a narrow lead, and then hung on gamely to withstand a stretch bid by Hyvania, Snob Tourist and Quiet, who finished half a length apart in that order, while the winner had a clear margin of two and a half lengths.

*Triomphe was weighted at 143 lbs., and on the scale was conceding weight to all her rivals except Jam and Hyvania which carried 155 and 152 respectively. Jam was a disappointment in the race, being well placed most of the way, and then apparently tired and finished fifth. A freak fall eliminated Stunts when the horse cleared the tenth hurdle, and then when on the flat, and in the clear, suddenly fell. There seems to be no answer unless the horse stepped in a hole, but in any event, was badly injured according to G. H. Bostwick.

Mrs. Carlo Paterno's Errolford captured the Cherry Malotte Steeplechase Handicap, which was also run on Wednesday, showing a very good first of these was W. R. Miller's Teddy Briar, which upset calculations somewhat by coming home on top by seven. Trepid, Leche Hombre and Allfor took the money positions in that order in a two mile chase run under claiming conditions. The following day, a claiming hurdle was captured by Mrs. R. G. Woolfe's Daylight Time, who figured well, but just held on to win by a neck from *Sonatine. Twelve lengths further back, a tight battle occurred up the stretch for the minor awards with Sea Denesce getting third, while Blackheath and Component were a close fourth and fifth.

Another Battleship Stakes Winner

Steeplechase Breeding No Exception For Foreign Blood "Nick" With Fair Play Line

Frank Talmadge Phelps

L. W. Jennings' Navy Gun, often a contender in stakes company but never before the winner of an added-money event, waited until the last jumping stakes of the season at the major tracks before he enrolled his name on the list of stakes victors. In the Temple Gwathmey Steeplechase Handicap on October 18, the closing day of the United Hunts-at-Belmont Park meeting, the 6-year-old bay son of Battleship—Pova, by Marx, prevailed over Phiblant and *Palaja, which dead-heated for 2nd money.

Bred by A. H. Jones, Navy Gun had raced until this year in the "French blue, old rose and silver cross sashes", of Mrs. Marion du Pont Scott's Montpelier.

The son of Battleship did not start as a juvenile, and made only two appearances the following season. He captured one of those races and showed in the other, to gain $895. Despite this modest income, he was the stable's top earner for that year, when Montpelier managed to take only three decisions.

Nothing more was seen of Navy Gun until last season, when, at Belmont on May 8, he went postward in an allowance steeplechase named for his sire. But nomenclature had no effect on the result; the Montpelier horse broke 8th and worked his way up to 6th at the wire.

Ten days later, in the Belmont Spring Maiden, Navy Gun was a much improved horse. First out of the gate but taken back to 6th when Whatta Knight outsprinted him, the son of Battleship moved up gradually; and lacked only a length of catching the front-runner at the end.

In his next start, Navy Gun tangled with *Irish Easter at the 10th fence; and both went down.

Navy Gun must have been hurt, for he did not return to action for nearly five months. But he was dead fit when he did get back, at Laurel on October 27. Despite being in close quarters in the early part of the race, he moved boldly into a long lead after the 9th fence. His early efforts to get clear may have tired him, however, he proved unable to hold Flaming Comet, which swept to a 1 1/4-length triumph in the final flat.

The Montpelier jumper made his last two starts of the season victorious excursions on the Virginia hunt circuit. At the National Hunts on Election Day, Navy Gun alternated with Flying Wing for the lead; took over when a loose dog caused the latter to shy and fall over the final fence; and easily held off Iseeyou by 2 lengths thereafter. In the Montpelier Cup at the Montpelier Hunts eleven days later, the son of Battleship dueled with My Good Man to the last obstacle; then outlasted the belated challenge of Good Marks by 3-4 of a length.

Navy Gun had won twice and showed twice in six attempts, for an income of $3,200 during the year. This season, after Mr. Jennings had bought him from Montpelier, Navy Gun has turned in several promising performances. Within the month preceding his Temple Gwathmey triumph, he had been 2nd, beaten a nose, to his entry-mate, the unfortunate *Kipper, in the Glendale Steeplechase Handicap; and had finished in the same position back of the almost unbeatable Oedipus in the Grand National.

Since Navy Gun is a whole horse, it would scarcely be surprising if the Montpelier castoff should wind up back in the Montpelier stud barn as a replacement for his aging sire, Battleship, which stands at Mrs. Scott's farm. But Navy Gun still has a long way to go before he can peek through the bridle of the 24-year-old Battleship as a jumper; and will have still further to go if he hopes to match the sire accomplishments of the chestnut son of Man o'War—*Quarantine, by Sea Sick.

Battleship started his racing career on the flat over which he annexed the first running of the Rowe Memorial, as well as the Great Lakes and Lake Geneva Handicaps.

Then, despite his small side (15.2) Battleship was set to the jumps. He promptly set a new Belmont record of 4:45 3-5 for about 2 1/2 miles. His more notable wins included the Billy Barton and Roslyn Steeplechases, and the 1934 American Grand National. The son of Man o'War became the third horse ever to acquire two runnings of the National Hunt Cup, immediately after that former Brookline brush contest was shortened to about 2 miles. In his first National Hunt Cup triumph, Battleship carried 162 pounds and was timed in 5:34 3-5; the following year he toted a record-breaking (and back-breaking) 170 pounds over the course in 5:36 1-5.

At the age of 11, Battleship was sent to England, where he topped off his career by packing 160 pounds to victory in the coveted, arduous and hazardous English Grand National.

All told, the little son of Man o'War captured 25 races and $75,335.

From Battleship's first crop came T. T. Mott's Floating Isle, winner of the Corinthian, Meadow Brook, North American, Glendale, Charles L. Appleton, Beverwyck, Saratoga and Harbor Hill Steeplechase Handicaps, and earner of $103,867.

Battleship's second crop included Kent Miller's War Battle, victor in the Beverwyck, Temple Gwathmey, Manly, Meadow Brook and Hitchcock Steeplechase Handicaps; and Rigan McKinney's Navigate, winner of the Harbor Hill (by disqualification of Chesapeake) and Charles L. Appleton.

Navy Gun, a member of Battleship's sixth crop, is his fourth victor in jumping stakes.

The Montpelier stallion has also sired two flat stakes winners: C. Bordonaro's Westport Point, which captured the 1945 Jockey Club Cup and Dowry Handicaps in Canada; and Bayard Sharp's Tide Rips, which took the 1948 Brandywine and Monmouth 'Caps.

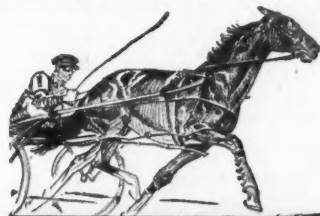

Mrs. Scott bred Floating Isle, Navigate and Tide Rips.

Like Battleship's previous steeplechase stakes winners, Navy Gun has foreign blood in the lower portion of his pedigree. Both Floating Isle and Bay Battle are from imported mares; while Navigate's dam, though native-bred is a daughter of *Light Brigade.

Navy Gun's dam, Pova, was foaled in this country; but the mating that produced her was made in England, where her sire, Marx, stood.

Foreign blood always has "nick" well with the Fair Play line, and steeplechase breeding is no exception.

Preview-Predictions of Keeneland Sales

Arrangement of Sales Assures Buying Interest Will Be Maintained Throughout

Arnold Shrimpton

The month of October, as experienced here in Lexington, Kentucky, is best described as being something between a horseman's Bedlam, and the Gathering of The Clans. The local race meeting at Keeneland has just finished a 10-day session and the Keeneland Yearling Sales started but a brief two days after. The hotels are straining at the seams, the restaurants are bulging with hungry and impatient customers, parking facilities (never particularly good in Lexington) have ceased to be of any practical value, and the only topic of conversation is "horse, horse, horse". If it were possible for Richard the Third to dash into the lobby of The Lafayette Hotel and repeat his famous line:

"A horse! A horse! My Kingdom for a horse!". You may bet your bottom dollar he would get plenty of takers.

By the time this hurried effort sees publication, on Friday, October 26; the yearling sales will be over and nearly 70 youngsters will be on their way to "pastures new". A mere glance at the catalogue of the ten selling sessions, reveals the disturbing conclusion that quite a sizable percentage of them have only the remotest chance of winning races. In brief, and without malice to anyone, a lot of entries are plain bad horses, many are mediocre, some are good, while a handful are of top caliber. Yet all will be sold and each new owner confident that he, or she, has purchased a potential winner. Such is the nature and eternal optimism of the horse buyer, world without end. I often think that all sales companies should have the following misquotation from Dante's "Divine Comedy" prominently displayed above the auctioneer's rostrum:

"Abandon everything but Hope, all ye who enter here". I doubt if it would do any good, but it might sound a warning note to those who are tempted to "go another thousand" on an animal whose only credentials are that of being sired by a stallion "which has never really had a chance, you know", out of a mare "which broke down in training, but has just got to have winners".

Around Keeneland Fall Sales time this story has as many versions as Beethoven's Thirty-Two Variations.

Now, it does not take a Nostradamus to predict the outcome and overall picture of the yearling sales. The bad 'uns are going to sell cheaply, but, nevertheless, will bring more money than in previous fall sales; the good 'uns, (that is, let us say, horses in the $5,000 to $7,000 bracket) are going to fetch anything up to a 20 percent increase over what they might have brought last year; while the small, but elite 'uns may safely be predicted to bring summer sales prices. Once again you may look for the "all records broken" sign to be plastered all over the pages of the presses of horseodom.

Californian gold will again be on the splurge, but this time, however, we can be sure of a little more competition. In July, the Golden Staters swept all before them, and snapped up most of the best yearlings before Easterners woke up to the fact that they were being frozen out. Many a regular summer sales buyer went home without buying a horse at all, and quite a few of them will be back to get one, this time with their bidding boots on.

You may also rely on buying interest to be maintained throughout the four selling days because the sales have been so arranged as to finish on the Friday evening with the Del Holeman-Doug Davis consignment of 52 broken and tried yearlings. As last year, a public trial was staged at Keeneland on the Friday morning, followed by a cocktail party in between the afternoon and evening selling sessions. This keeps many a buyer in town, who might otherwise have gone home after the first day or so. Del Holeman, the senior partner of the venture, is in Lexington and has enjoyed a successful Keeneland meeting. He saddled the good 2-year-old Gushing Oil, for two successive wins, for his owner, Sam Wilson, and the Sage of Pilot Knob is his own inimitable self. The local Lexington Leader describes him as "resembling an Irish pixie", anent which Del Holeman's reactions are picturesque, piquant, but unprintable.

In the Thoroughbred business there is just no let up. It's one thing after another, and, to me at least, every one of them, a labor of love. Directly we have got this yearling sales off our minds, it will be time to start the Keeneland-November Dispersal Sale; after that comes the new stallion season, then the first foals of next year to look at, and presto, it's Saratoga and summer sales time all over again. Such are the landmarks of a Kentucky year. It is a wonderful life alright, but you need to be endowed with fortitude, stamina, and a palate for good Bourbon.

Goldens Bridge Meet

pense of Sidney Baumann on Spitfire.

Feature event of the afternoon was the 3 1-2 mile point-to-point. The horses started down the chute and as they passed the stands going toward the 1st fence, it was Raymond Burr on Wistan in front, followed by Pomperous with Gordon Wright up, Michael O'Riordan on Cross Fire, Mrs. Anne Wayne, the only lady rider, on her Paul Fred, E. H. Bennett on Capt. Windmill and Huey MacDonald on Sail By.

Paul Fred really was winging past the others and opened up a good lead over the 1st fence. All the horses jumped well and Mrs. Wayne convinced Paul Fred to steady down—not an easy job, as the young horse really wanted to run on.

At the 4th Cross Fire broke down and was pulled up. Paul Fred still led over the 5th but he swung wide at the turn and was passed after the 6th by Capt. Windmill. He took over the pace setting duties again coming into the 7th but tired and "Tiger" Bennett went to the front again on Capt. Windmill.

Pomperous was pulled up after the 9th as Capt. Windmill and Wistan jumped the 10th as a pair. Raymond Burr sent Wistan out on top at the 12th but the horse hit hard, taking out a rail. Sail By was pulled up after the 14th as the race settled down between Capt. Windmill and Wistan. Over the last fence Capt. Windmill led but Wistan was right with him, fighting it out as they came down the stretch. Wistan came on to win by a nose with Capt. Windmill placing in front of Paul Fred.

A 1-mile event on the flat completed the afternoon's card. Seven horses went postward and Philip Bondy on Reno Rhythm went into the winner's circle. Carlo M. Paterno and Trenton placed with J. E. Johnston on Hydroad 3rd.

After the enthusiasm shown at this meeting, it is hoped that Goldens Bridge will consider holding a recognized meet next year.

Elkridge Retires

Son of Mate—Best By Test Ends Career As A Money Winning Steeplechaser

Nancy G. Lee

A huge van drove up in front of the A. Mackay-Smith's stable on their Lucky Hit Farm near White Post, Va., on October 19 and one of America's greatest Thoroughbreds walked down the ramp. From Belmont Park the van left with a mare and foal, a Great Dane, a conglomerate of tack, feed tubs, buckets, etc., Mann Mason and Elkridge.

On hand to meet the leading money winning chaser of all times was Owner Kent Miller's daughter, Phoebe, who had been staying at Lucky Hit Farm for the past month and capably filling the position of exercise boy. When the family pet arrived, Phoebe forsook the house and took up her abode in the stable with the Great Dane. When Mann came into the stable on Saturday morning to feed, an apparition rose out of the straw and practically scared him out of his wits. It was only the youngster who had taken over the spot her father occupied just before Elkridge used to go post-ward.

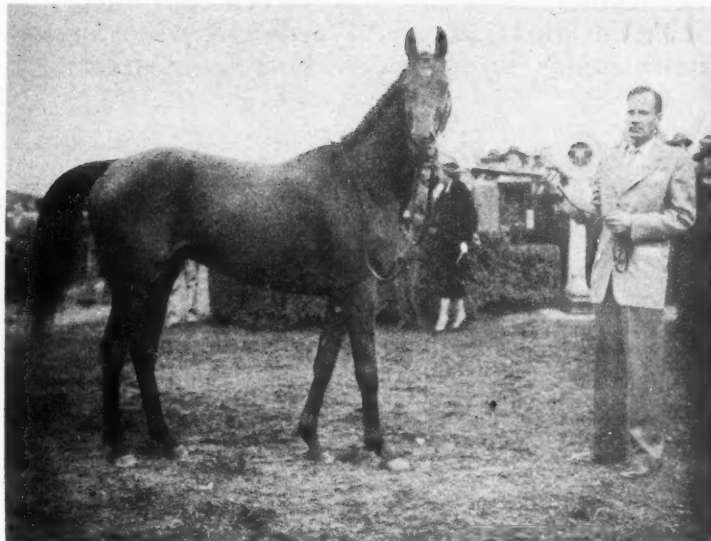

Elkridge—the first steeplechaser to earn $200,000—has been retired. For him there will be no more thundering applause from crowds as he chalks up another victory between the flags; no more record breaking trips over brush courses and the big course at Delaware Park will not be the scene of further accomplishments for him. It was over this course that he entered the winner's circle 5 different times to win the Indian River Chase 'Cap and twice after winning the Georgetown Chase 'Cap.

His will be a life of ease as he assumes his many times pictured stance while Mrs. Jean Bowman Mackay-Smith does an oil painting of him in retirement. Intermingled with these standing sessions will be slow hacks over the countryside with Jean in the saddle and later on some good days behind Blue Ridge hounds.

On October 23 Mr. and Mrs. Miller, 3 children, the Great Dane, suitcases, a bicycle and a huge oil painting which Kent is doing himself of Elkridge, all loaded up into the small convertible and headed for Camden, S. C. They were met on Thursday by a moving van and the entire family went on to Coral Gables, Fla.

The Miller colors will not be seen at the race tracks as they feel there can never be another Elkridge and the thrill is gone. However, they have with them an enormous scrap book which completely unfolds the life of the 13-year-old bay gelding by Mate—Best By Test, by Black Toney. The sales catalogue of the Thomas Hitchcock dispersal sale in November, 1941 at Pimlico begins the story and notes that Elkridge was bought for $7,000, this price being topped only by that of $13,

000 which Rokeby Stables paid for Redlands. Incidentally the underbidders on Elkridge were Brookmeade Stable and J. H. "Jock" Whitney. Clippings and pictures show Kent building the race track at Aiken for Elkridge and acting in his official capacity as president.

The pages are turned and Kent is shown riding Elkridge the day he announced that he was going to the tracks to win stakes. This brought a swift rejoinder from Theo, "Oh yeah", or words to that effect.

The rest of the scrapbook is history, the steeplechaser which was named the leading chaser in 1946 and whose name was mentioned prominently in 1950 as a great candidate for "Horse Of The Year" honors, retired with earnings of $230,680. This was accumulated in 119 steeplechases and 4 flat races.

An important chapter in the annals of steeplechasing has come to a close.

* Gift of Gold Retires Rose Tree Cup

All Three Flat Events Won By Imported Horses Belonging To Arthur E. Pew, Jr.

Nancy G. Lee

Only one timber event was carded at the 92nd annual fall race meeting of The Rose Tree Fox Hunting Club on October 20 at Media, Pa. However, before the afternoon was over, the timber jumps had figured in 3 races; the official timber, a runaway brush horse crashing through one and another brush horse using a timber jump as a stopping point.

The Rose Tree Hunter Challenge Cup, about 3 miles over timber, turned out to be one of the best timber races seen in some time. It also marked the retirement of the cup. Five horses faced Starter Harold A. Plumb and as the tape whirled through the air, Jockey F. D. Adams went to the front on the outstanding timber horse, *Gift of Gold. Purchased from Mrs. M. Walsh by Mrs. Simon T. Paterson, *Gift of Gold had been leased to Bliss Flaccus who had previously won two legs on The Rose Tree Hunter Challenge Cup.

Going around the end of the figure-eight course, Mr. E. Weymouth took command of the pace on John Grew's Mihale and jumped the 4th with *Gift of Gold, Jockey H. Stradley being 3rd on Thomas McKelvey's Steel Plate. The 5th is on an angle and never fails to produce a few butterflies in spectators' stomachs as the horses go over. Coming into sight from behind the hill at the far end of the course, Mihale had opened up a 2-length gap over the 7th but *Gift of Gold was still 2nd, Steel Plate 3rd and *McGinty Moore and Mrs. Simon T. Patterson's Phils Pet completed the field. *McGinty Moore was also carrying the colors of Bliss Flaccus and it was erroneously reported after the Rolling Rock meeting that he had been purchased by Mrs. Patterson.

Mihale really stood back and jumped the 9th in front of the stands. Saving ground around the turn, Mr. E. Weymouth had Mihale out on top by 6 lengths over the 11th and was really winging toward that jump which is set at an angle. Steel Point was now trailing the field and Phils Pet was running 3rd behind *Gift of Gold with *McGinty Moore 4th.

The 15th marked two complete turns of the course and still another one to go and over the 16th Steel Plate barely got over and landed practically walking. He was kicked into a show canter and continued to trail. Mihale was still saving ground and jumping well but he dropped a hind leg over the 17th and took out a rail without losing any ground. Coming into sight after the 21st, Jockey Adams began to move *Gift of Gold up on the leading Mihale and over the 22nd and final, *Gift of Gold was really moved along as Mihale led by a head over this jump. There isn't a straight stretch run to the wire on the timber course and the riders really have to jockey for position. Jockey Adams sent *Gift of Gold through and in a driving finish, came on ahead of Mihale with Jockey M. Ferral bringing *McGinty Moore into the 3rd slot in front of Phils Pet. The latter was ridden by Mr. C. Jelke.

Mr. Flaccus retired the trophy, his Maker of Time having won a leg on it in 1947 and Big Mike coming right back the next year to annex another leg. However, the time of this year's race, 6:10 3-5, was almost 7 seconds faster than any previous times which were available from the records.

After plenty of excitement and dust in the paddock to get the 15 horses headed toward the course for The Agricultural Stakes, there was still enough to do before they were sent away. No mean feat it was to get them off but it was finally accomplished with Jockey R. Gough heading the assorted pack on Alvin Christman's 14-year-old bay gelding, Betty's Bobby. It was Betty's Bobby all the way with Mrs. Joseph Charley's Burning Scrip placing ahead of S. W. Grace's Sweep 'Em.

Various and sundry reasons kept most of the brush horses in the stable and only 4 came out for the second running of The W. Plunkett Stewart memorial challenge cup for maiden chasers. Making her first start over brush, Happy Hill Farm's *Sonatine led over the 1st jump, only to swerve right in front of Owner-rider Mr. Sidney Culver on *High Road. Jockey Jackson quickly straightened the mare out and headed toward the 2nd jump behind the judges' stand. Here Jockey R. L. Leaf and J. D. McCaffrey's Brimful went down and the riderless Brimful galloped around the stand, across the course and right smack through the timber jump in front of the grandstand. *High Road was now running in 2nd position but coming into the 3rd, Jockey M. Ferral brought Brooks Parker's *Basalt in ahead of him. *Sonatine continued to hold the small field safely and galloped under the wire 5 lengths ahead of *Basalt with *High Road 3rd.

The program stated that a replica of The Riddle Cup will be presented to the owner of the winner by Arthur E. Pew, Jr. This 1-mile flat race was run in two divisions both winners were owned by Mr. Pew. In the 1st division, Jockey A. P. Smithwick went out on top on R. K. Mellon's Arctic Fox but Jockey J. Walker soon took over the pace setting duties on *Tico Tico, a 4-year-old by *Nasrullah. *Tico Tico withstood a challenge from Irl A. Daffin's Blackheath and then Arctic Fox was sent at him again in the stretch. The Pew color-bearer came on to win with Arctic Fox placing ahead of Blackheath.

The 1st division had 9 starters and the 2nd division brought out 8. This time the Pew color-bearer, *Rallywood, was away fast under the reins of Jockey E. L. McKenzie and was never headed, winning easily by 7 lengths. James G. Leiper, Jr.'s *Salford II, which had been far back in the early stages was sent after the leader and was 2nd in front of Alfonso Sarmento's Prancing Ted.

When only 2 chasers appeared for The Foxcatcher Plate, the crowd sat back, anticipating a slow pace until perhaps approaching the final jump. This was the case until the 3rd jump when Morris H. Dixon's *Cloonshee put in a short one and shot Jockey T. Oliver up in the air, the rider landing on the horse's neck. Doing a quick bit of scrambling, Jockey Oliver got back into the saddle but the 4th jump lay right ahead and the 5th is only a few strides from that one. Turning *Cloonshee out of the wings of the 4th, Jockey Oliver and the horse went away at a gallop but he was unable to regain his stirrups. Meanwhile Jockey A. P. Smithwick had the course to himself on W. C. Robinson, Jr.'s Crown Royal until he came around the end of the course, with the 10th lying on beyond. Jockey Oliver and *Cloonshee were galloping toward the same end of the course, he being unable to pull up and for a few moments, it appeared as though the two horses might get into a scramble. *Cloonshee's course was changed and he galloped toward the wrong side of the timber jump, hit it and Jockey Oliver came off. Crown Royal went on his way to complete the course and win.

Mr. Pew was in the clear for the Autumn Stayer's Plate, about 1 1-2 miles on the flat as he wasn't presenting the trophy and Trainer D. D. Odell tightened the girth on his 3rd winner of the afternoon, Jockey Leaf, who gave the appearance of having a bad fall on Brimful, suffered nothing more serious than having the wind knocked out of him, so he was back to ride J. D. McCaffrey's Brown Adobe in this event and was the early pace setter. Taking over from Brown Adobe was Jockey A. P. Smithwick on R. K. Mellon's Trout Brook but right in behind him was Mr. Pew's Cottage Flame with Jockey J. H. Walker up. This pair assumed command before the mile mark but their position was seriously challenged by Trout Brook and in driving under the wire, only 3-4 of a length separated the winning *Cottage Flame from Trout Brook while Jockey J. Murphy brought H. J. Stringer, Jr.'s Admiral Tan in to finish 3rd.

HUNTER TRIALS

Miss Katie Kolb Wins Finals For Michigan Hunts Junior Trophy

Jerry Helder

Rain, rain, and more rain, but not a single drop dampened the enthusiasm of the committee on Oct. 6 at Jackson, Mich. putting on their 4th annual hunter trials which are held each year over the course adjacent to the Waterloo Hunt Club.

Highlighting the show was the finals for the Michigan Hunts Perpetual Junior Challenge Trophy. Four contestants, who were winners of this class at other horse shows in Michigan throughout the year, faced Judge Mrs. James A. Blackwood. After sending the contestants out over the outside course and working them in the ring changing horses and requiring them to "figure 8", plus answering questions pertaining to hunting, Miss Katie Kolb was given the blue. This puts Miss Kolb in an excellent position to retire this trophy in succeeding years as she is just 13 years of age and will have another four years in which to retire this excellent trophy which is donated by the combined hunts of the state of Michigan.

Dr. F. L. Arner brought out a newcomer, and even though the weather was not so fair, Fair Weather annexed the green hunters, and his newly acquired Gentlemen Jim accounted for the open hunter class.

Fred Boudeman was given the nod in the Parkway Memorial Challenge Trophy for qualified hunters to enter his name on this beautiful trophy for his performance on his Miss McNeill II. P. T. Cheff and his consistent Vagabond were in for the reserve spot. Mr. Cheff and his good going mare Pletny accounted for the working hunters which was the best filled class of the day with about 20 entries.

An article on the Waterloo Hunter Trials would not be complete without a congratulatory word to our good friends Phil and Whippy Huebner who entertained after the trials with refreshments and a very beautiful table which has each year been a very fitting and proper wind-up of a wonderful day in the country.

J. Harry Cox Trophy Won By Charlie Horse At Hunter Trials

Carroll Hounds really scheduled a variety of classes for their annual hunter trials held at East Chatham, N. Y. on Oct. 14. There was even a class for hunter type colts and fillies which was won by Hugh Johnston's Nosegay.

James Rooney's Charlie Horse annexed top honors when he was selected as the best working hunter for the J. Harry Cox Challenge Trophy. Charlie Horse was one of the two horses which accounted for two blue ribbons, Emma Willard School's Bataan Warrior being the other one. Kio-Ora Champion of Annual Plum Creek Hunter Trials

Hildegard Neill

The 4th annual Plum Creek Hunter Trials were held at the Plum Creek Ranch in Larkspur, Colorado on October 7th. Conditions were perfect—it was a bright fall day, and the sandy soil which had received a soaking rain two days before, made perfect footing.

The trials were well attended by both the hunting crowd and the neighboring ranch people who all sat atop a well situated, grassy hill, and had a perfect view of the whole course stretched across the fields below them. Trouble with one of the big trucks bringing in some of the horses resulted in a late start, but the classes were run off smoothly with a break at noon for barbecue lunch.

As in all the shows this summer, the classes were filled to brimming with an up and coming group of youngsters from both Colorado Springs and Denver. The long cross country courses proved more difficult for them than the usual show courses but though they came off with few ribbons, they got a terrific bang out of the whole affair as well as a lot of good experience.

It was not until the last event, the Plum Creek Cup which called for the conditions of a corinthian class, that the field was narrowed down to the more experienced riders. George Beeman, who had come a nasty cropper in the hunt teams earlier in the day, nevertheless rode the Arapahoe Hunt's Princess to win the cup in this class with a beautiful performance. The championship of the show went to William Collins Kio-Ora, a big young chestnut ridden by Mrs. B. Tweedy, a new comer to our show circles, and the reserve went to the Arapahoe Hunt's Princess. The entire show was a great deal of fun, and a lot of credit goes to Mrs. John Paulk and the people on the ranch who combined their efforts to make it such a successful day.

Baily's Hunting Directory

A Foxhunter's Invaluable Guide To Hunts And Hunting the World Over

Philip K. Crowe

Eighteen years ago in Bombay I was embarking on a shooting tour of India and wished, if possible, to get some hunting and polo as well. I had a vague idea that various cavalry regiments maintained fox hounds and that some of the larger cities had established packs, but where they were and how one arranged for hunting with them was a moot question. Then a friend handed me Baily's Hunting Directory and solved my problems.

There were in fact seventeen hunts then listed as flourishing in the sub-continent. The choice ran from Quetta, far up in the arid country of Bikaner to the tropical pastures of Madras, and from the Peshawar Vale on the Northwest Frontier to Bombay itself. Full particulars as to Masters, secretaries, availability of horses, type of country, capping fees, and short history of the various hunts and their distinctive colors were clearly tabulated. By writing ahead I was subsequently able to enjoy some fine days with many of these packs and will always be grateful for the courtesy shown me by their Masters and secretaries.

The volume was provided with a diary and it is still fun to look back over the notations of almost two decades ago. The recent story in The Field of the passing of the Peshawar Vale Hunt prompted me to glance over my old notes. Under December 1933 I found: "Met five miles from Peshawar near bank of stream. Fifteen couple English hounds, the Master, Captain Hurst of the Royal Signals, lent me a good old whaler who could jump. Found Jack (jackal) on first draw and ran him four miles to drain. Pace very fast with lots of jumping consisting of walls, ditches and banks. Stayed out six hours and ran most of the time even though country was obviously not a good scenting one. Hunt founded in 1868."

In addition to the Indian hunts, Baily's edition of 1933-34 also listed two in Australia, three in New Zealand, one in South Africa, four in Canada, one in Ceylon, one in China, one in Iraq, one in the Sudan, and one hundred and twenty in the United States of America, making a foreign total of one hundred and sixty-three hunts. Add to this figure the two hundred and twenty-one packs of fox hounds then hunting in Great Britain, fifty-eight packs of harriers, ten of staghounds, fourteen of drag hounds, seventy-one of beagles, four of basset, nineteen of otterhounds and you have a grand total of 560 hunts in the civilized world.

This pattern was pretty well maintained right up to the beginning of the Second World War. My copy of the 1938-39 edition listed 572 hunts and the editor looked forward to another excellent season. Two years later England was struggling for her life and Baily's was not printed till the end of hostilities. Hunting however, carried on with lady Masters and the older men. The packs, though reduced, managed to keep going through the crisis.

The current copy, the 1950-51 edition, is the forty-fifth annual volume to be printed by Vinton and Company (Stratford Place, London W 1) since the directory was started back toward the close of the last century.

Despite the ravages of war and confiscatory taxation, the noble sport remains miraculously vigorous with 546 packs listed. Fox hound packs in England, Ireland and Scotland number 242, twenty-two more than were listed in the palmy days of 1933. During the same period American hunts declined from 120 to the current total of 104. Europe has maintained a total of 11, but the Indian total has dropped from 17 to 3, with one more in Pakistan, while China, Palestine, the Sudan and Ceylon have vanished from the hunting world.

The British Army of the occupation on the Rhine has established some regimental packs and is enjoying good sport. German civilians are welcomed and relations with the farmers are excellent. In Tripoli, the First Guards Brigade has formed a pack from hounds given them by the famous Ramble Vale Hunt of Palestine which had to be disbanded. The Roman Fox Hounds (Societa Romana Della Caccia Alla Volpe) has begun operations again. One of the oldest hunts on the Continent, founded in 1836 by a gift from Lord Chesterfield to Prince Odescalchi, the hunt has been run continuously (9-27-51) A Field of 15 met at Erwin's at 6:30 A. M. We hacked south from here, and the huntsman made his first cast in the open country just south of Litzinger Rd. Here a brace of red fox cubs were started almost immediately. The pack finally settled on one of them, who gave us a good 30 minutes before going to ground.

We then lifted and drew east through Slupsky's and May's into the Bolin property and then North through the Trails End Stable property into the Deer Creek woods, but this was all found to be blank.

(9-30-51) A Field of 35 met at Madam DeFoe's and after a short hack east, the huntsman made his first cast in Moman's where there is a nice brace of red fox who had given us a good morning earlier this month. They were started and viewed almost at once, and gave us about 30 minutes of mild sport, running through here and into Hickman's before they were lost. It was very dry as we had had no rain in over a week, and there was no dew so that with the high weeds and underbrush, hounds had quite a bit of difficulty holding any line.

We lifted and hacked east and except during the two World Wars.

In addition to listing the various packs, Baily's includes maps of the countries hunted and the boundaries. During the last war while I was stationed for a time with the air force in England, I took along my Baily's and by comparing its maps with those locating our air fields, found that I could get in an occasional half day with the local pack.

The lesson of Baily's is clear. If one really wants hunting he can have it on the desert, in the mountains and even under the Labor Government.

north, drawing through Forshaw's and Mertz's then south through Kraeckler's and Watkins and all these coverts were found to be blank. Just as we were about to call it a day and collect hounds, a large grey fox was started on the Martin Farm and he gave us a very fast 20 minutes before going to earth in Cella's property. We then hacked back to a fine Dutch treat breakfast at Madam DeFoe's.

(10-7-51) Opening day of the regular season found a Field of 47 meeting at the kennels at 8 A. M. Let us hope that all days this season are as good. We had a soaking rain the day before, which made the footing perfect. The temperature was 45, with grey skies and a strong north-west wind the only flaws.

We hacked west and south from the kennels and the huntsman made his first cast in the Harsh property, going in near Manchester Road and drawing north from here. Hounds found within 15 minutes in the small south wood. This fox gave us almost 2 hours of excellent sport, circling through here several times before

GOLDENS BRIDGE HOUNDS

Rock Ridge Farm,
North Salem, N. Y.
(P. O. R. F. D. Brewster,
New York.)
Established 1924.
Recognized 1925.

Saturday, September 1, 1951:

A Field of thirty riders greeted the new Masters, Carlo M. Paterno and Daniel M. McKeon at the opening of the Cubbing Season at 6:30 a. m., a foggy morning backed up with an eclipse of the early sun, with a pack of 22 couples of seasoned Hounds and one couple of the new entry. We drew in back of R. L. Parish's house towards Battery Farm, the home of Daniel V. Raymond. After about 15 minutes, Smokey, a very timid bitch but one of the best, spoke on an old line and was soon joined by Piper, then Bachelor, the pack soon joined in what only the real foxhunter knows as that musical chorus. After a few short circles, it got too hot for this nice big red and he raced over the farm of Miss Mary Thomas on to Hardscrabble, where he turned south and after about 45 minutes, hounds marked their fox in rocks on Rock Ridge Farm near starting point. Temperature about 85 degrees. A grand hunt for so early in the season. All but one hound accounted for at the earth, so it looks like another great season for Golden Bridge. Breakfast, swimming, etc. at Meadow Lane.

Monday, Labor Day, September 3rd:

A Field of 38 turned out at 6:30 a. m. and we hunted the same country as on Saturday and found back of Mr. Edison's house about 5 minutes after moving off. We started off with 25 couples of hounds including 3 couples of the young entry and after a few circles in the pinewood on Battery Farm, our old red headed north over Miss Thomas' farm, Lobdell's to Hardscrabble and after about 40 minutes, marked their fox in the old den under a cordwood pile on Charles Wallace's farm. After encouraging the young hounds at the earth, we drew the small swamp about 150 yards from the earth and a nice red cub broke out in front of the pack and was viewed by the Field. After one and a half hours, this good big red was marked to earth in a rocky ledge on Rock Ridge Farm very near the starting point. We were out 2 1-2 hours and except for about 10 minutes, hounds were running as you would expect from November until April. One of our best Cubbing mornings.

Thursday, September 6th:

This Meet, while all the members were welcome, was especially for the children, or a Junior Meet. A few too young to jump, were piloted by Mrs. R. L. Parish, Jr. and Fred Stone, and by their expressions, had the thrill of their young lives. We found on a rocky ledge just off Rock Ridge on the Lobdell farm and after a few circles, it was a beautiful sight to see this pack of 25 couples race over the golf course on the Bloomerside Golf Course where the pack split. One pack crossed the bridge spanning the outlet of Peach Lake and after a few circles in Arthur Vail's cornfield, ran north to the Brewster-Danbury Road and after about one hour, marked their fox in the old den under the oak tree near Gene Riordan's stable at Starr Ridge. In the meantime, we could hear about 15 couples running strong off to the south, we harked the other pack in and after about 40 minutes more, marked in on Lobdell's woodland in a rocky ledge. This hunt would be worthy of all the praise you could describe of a November or December Hunt.

Thursday, September 13th:

This was another day urging the Juniors to come out and quite a few were out. Another warm morning but enough fog and dew to make scenting conditions excellent and as we were drawing along the west side of Peach Lake, two foxes broke out of covert with 16 couples running north and 15 couples circling the vicinity where we found. Hounds never ran faster on through the big Peach Lake swamp on to near the Danbury-Brewster Road where they marked in on a creek bank in pinewood on Pete Miller's. We could hear the other 15 couples running over Peach Lake Heights and when we arrived, they were working hard on road in front of Mrs. Tefft's house. In the meantime, Smokey, a very good bitch and a real road hound, had worked it out and was really right on Reynard. The fox crossed the concrete road with the pack all joining in but he was very muddy and wet and dropped in a ledge near Bloomerside. If the hounds and foxes continue to go at this pace all season, it looks like one of our usual good seasons.

Thursday, September 20th:

Met at Grant's Corners and drew south over Purdy's and picked up a good line on stone wall at upper end of Titicus Reservoir. They trailed on across Titicus Reservoir and via cemetery and jumped their fox hot out of Battery woods. This was a damp, foggy morning, scent really breast high and we enjoyed one of our very fast runs for over an hour and second time we ran through upper end of Lobdell's woodland, the pack split one part running west crossing DeLancy Road on over Harry Caesar's to near Croton Falls. We marked this fox in a rock ledge on Jame Joyce's woodland. Some of the hounds ran all day and part of the night. A good day.

Saturday, September 22nd:

Another warm, foggy morning but a good Field was on hand for the meet at Dongle Ridge and we found a good line. In first field, we cast hounds and worked it for nearly a mile along Dongle Ridge Road and finally got up with their fox near the Old Den Hole on Bates Farm and for over an hour, this pack of heavy noted American Hounds really made the countryside along the New York-Connecticut border ring and they marked in near the starting point. As we drew north towards Merry's wood, we picked up the line of a fox which had no doubt been routed out during the first run. The hounds worked their fox beautifully for over a mile and found on the Converse Farm. They ran well and marked in pinewood on 8-Bells Farm. Hounds' tongues were out by this time, so after three hours, we called off. Another good day. A deer ran out in front of pack but as usual, our Hounds did not bother with it. There are a few hounds that will not run a deer but they can be stopped just as easily as you would take them off a rabbit.

Saturday, September 29th:

Met at Field's Lane. Very warm. After drawing the country west of Bolling's, we crossed Field's Lane and found in cornfield on Red Shield Farm. Hounds ran fast for about 20 minutes and marked in den in Tompkin's woodland. Evidently there were two foxes when we found, as the hounds picked up a second line near where we had found and jumped our fox hot out of next covert and after about 35 minutes, marked in same den where fox No. 1 had sought safety. A third fox found in Ryder's woods and gave a very good run for about an hour and a half and finally denned in a briar patch on the Ryder Farm. A good morning.

Thursday, October 4th:

The last of a very good Cubbing season. A small Field turned out at Tartarin Farm, mostly everyone saving their horses for the Opening Meet on Saturday. While it looked very much as if it would rain at any time, it held off and we drew an awful lot of our best country blank. We finally found at pinewoods on 8-Bells. Hounds ran well and marked in under a big stone wall on 8-Bells. A second and good fox was found in big swamp south of Dongle Ridge and this one proved one of our best game foxes of the year, despite the extreme heat. This fox ran for over straightening out and running due west to Bopp Road, west through the Schaeffer Farm to Ballas Rd., then doubling back to Bopp Road again, crossing east into Dr. Grey's, back into Schaeffer's, and finally lost to us as he ducked into a culvert which runs under and parallel to the road and we were unable to get him out. He gave us excellent sport and the pack worked very well, for a great part of this country is freshly plowed and though they lost the line several times, they were able to pick it up again. The fox was viewed by the whips and most of the Field and "scented" by all the Field as on two occasions scent was "human nose" high.

Hounds were lifted and we started home. En route hounds found their second fox who gave us another fast 15 minutes before he was put to earth. The Master and Mrs. Aitken then entertained at an excellent breakfast at their home.

(10-11-51) A Field of 20 met at Kirtland's Stable on Bopp Road. We hacked west and hounds were cast in Miller's woods near the hunt pasture. This country was drawn thoroughly for the better part of an hour and though it was a very hot day with a high wind we were still hopeful. Our hopes were rewarded when suddenly in the southernmost part of this country the pack found and were off on a very hot line, giving an excellent 40 minutes in this country and going due west across Topping Rd., where he was put to earth at Havensticks.

(10-14-51) We met at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson Carpenter in Howell and here the traditional hound blessing ceremony was performed by Rev. Pealoff of St. Joseph's Church and St. Hubert's medals were presented to the staff and the Field.

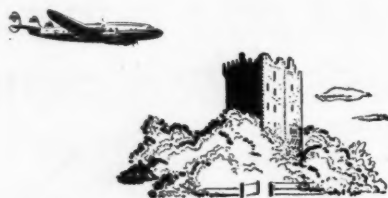

A very dull, hot, dry and windy morning and though we drew through Carpenter's, Berg's, Fehr's, Kolbe's and pillmans, going west and north then circling and returning through Lorenz' Culvers, Walsh's, Meyer's and Falk's, all these coverts were found to be blank.

an hour and a half around the Dongle Ridge Section. A very interesting morning for the foxhunter who understands and enjoys hound work in preference to a gallop over the countryside.

The Opening Meet

Saturday, October 6th:
Met at Meadow Lane Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carlo M. Paterno. A very good Field turned out on this extremely warm morning. After the usual photographing of Opening Meets, we moved off over the race course and drew June Farm. Finally found in small swamp on Charles Wallace's Farm. The fox was headed several times by riders in back of the Field but split near Salem Center, one part swimming upper end of Titicus Lake. We stopped this part of pack. The other pack had worked on north to Meldrum's swamp where we got close to Reynard and we ran this fox for nearly two hours. Finally called off. Hounds were tired and we had to use extreme care of how we used our horses. Temperature above 80 degrees. This was a very good exhibition of hound work. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. McKeon entertained the Field at a delightful Hunt Breakfast on the lawn of their home, Arlidge Farm in Ridgefield, Conn.

Lawrence Farms

The Lawrence Farms Horse Show brought the Wee-3-Stables over from Long Island to capture the conformation championship with their My Wish. Reserve went to Hutchinson Stables' Sea Mist, ridden by Ronnie Mutch. The young rider went on to be pinned horsemanship champion ahead of Victor Hugo-Vidal, Jr. Sea Mist was also pinned reserve in the working division.

Topping the working hunters was Miss Anita Loehmann's 4-year-old Tourland.

Peg's Pride chalked up another tri-color for Miss Nancy Clapp and Hutchinson Stables when he won 3 open classes to be pinned jumper champion. Reserve was Prince River, owned by Fred Blum with Johnny Bell in the saddle.

Lady Luck must have been taking a vacation that day; when a streak of bad luck hits a show, it really hits hard. By the end of the day six horses had fallen over the outside course, one had fallen in the ring, and another out of a van. No horse nor rider, luckily, was badly hurt, though Miss Barbara Wahl had her arm in a sling and a very black eye, having spent some time underneath a horse in the middle of the in-and-out.

The most coveted award of the day, The Taskmaster Challenge Trophy, which is always divided into two divisions; children under 14 years of age and those 14 years old and under 17, brought out very keen competition. The award in the younger group went to Miss Penelope Potter, 12 years old, on her pony, Count Clotoma. The older division was dominated by George Staples riding Sugar and Spice.

Orange County

The highly successful Orange County Fair and Horse Show was enjoyed and participated in by many of northern and southern California's most outstanding stables.

Outstanding among the open jumpers were Fiddlesticks, with Owner Miss Margaret Sullivan up and Blakiston Ranch's Skyway, T. B. Blakiston, Jr. riding. Skyway won three consecutive events and then on Saturday, when the last event was the open jumper stake, the combination of owner-rider Miss Margaret Sullivan and Fiddlesticks, took over the position as the blue ribbon winner, Skyway coming in a close 2nd.

Another horse adding blues to his collection was William Keck, Jr.'s Sonny Bravo, ridden by Joe E. Blackwell. On Sunday evening Sonny

Bravo continued his winning way by annexing the hunter stake and Mrs. J. J. Kessler again rode her Silver Lining in for 2nd. The latter pair appeared to have a monopoly on the red ribbons throughout the show.

ROSE TREE

One spectator in the grandstand at the Rose Tree Fall Race Meeting remarked that she thought there was more going on in the paddock than there was on the course. Watching the 15 horses getting ready for the Agricultural Stakes just about proved her point. There were horses everywhere. Riders were getting up helter, skelter and the best place to be was on the outside of the fence. One rider's horse was standing under the trees but he really turned a tail spin when the boy was given a leg up, losing the boy and almost losing the man at the end of the shank. Before the field went postward for the 1st division of The Riddle Cup, one mare was going quietly enough with her rider up; then she suddenly decided she wanted no part of the deal and fell down. All in all, it served to keep paddock spectators on their toes and dispensed with a lot of loitering.

Illinois was represented by Tom Oliver and Charles Jelke who were making their eastern debut at the hunt meetings. The former's parents came in from Barrington to watch him ride as he had a mount on *Cloonshee in the brush race. Charles Jelke rode Phils Pet in the timber race and is to have a leg up on him again tomorrow at Monmouth.

Chris Wood, Jr. field director of United Hunts, had an additional job at Rose Tree. The microphone was turned over to him just prior to the stallion parade and he commented briefly on each stallion as they were led by the grandstand. This is quite an exhibition which is put on every fall at the Rose Tree meeting and in case anyone has not made the necessary trip to see the Pennsylvania sires, he can sit back and watch them at his leisure. This year the number of sires shown was increased and indicates a good working organization.

The Irish rider, J. H. Walker, who rode his first race in this country at the Radnor Fall Meeting, went into the winner's circle twice at Rose Tree. He rode Arthur E. Pew, Jr.'s *Tico Tico and *Cottage Flame to win on the flat. E. L. McKenzie, the Australian, also had his first U. S. ride at Radnor and while Jockey Walker won the 1st division of The Riddle Cup, Jockey McKenzie brought Mr. Pew's *Rallywood in to account for the 2nd division.

As the timber horses came onto the course, Steward Amory L. Haskell and George Strawbridge, representing the N. S. & H. A., took on a new job. The announcer had been asking that several cars be moved at once because they were on the course but several people were a bit slow to comply. Messrs. Haskell and Strawbridge went at a very good pace across the course and just short of their destinations, pulled up—the cars were moved. With the announcer asking if the race could be started, they had to return on the double to their respective positions in the stand.

OEDIPUS WINS GRAND NATIONAL. Photographer Bert Morgan's cameras caught plenty of action during the 51st running of the Grand National 'Chase' Cap at Belmont Park. The first two pictures show Mrs. R. G. Woolfe's Banner Waves leading with Mrs. O. Phipps' Oedipus and Jockey A. Foot holding the lead in the third and fourth pictures. Jockey F. D. Adams is shown in a rather precarious position on L. W. Jennings' Navy Gun which finished 2nd behind the Phipps color-bearer. Oedipus, a 5-year-old brown gelding by Blue Larkspur—Be Like Mom, has been retired for the season and his earnings between the flags now total $98,970. (Morgan Photos)

NEIL NEWMAN

Neil Newman, 65, whose articles on Thoroughbred breeding and racing appeared in this and other turf publications, died in the Veterans Hospital in Brooklyn, on Saturday, Oct. 20, after a lingering illness.

Until ill health overtook him, just about a year ago, he had been John B. Campbell's clerical assistant for 5 years. A former member of the staff of the New York Telegraph, he was considered a member of the "Old Guard" of the racing fraternity. He was a member of the New York Turf Writers' Assn. and served with the Second Division of the U. S. Marines in the first World War.

SULLIVAN DISPERSAL

An unexpected addition to the Maryland Fall Sales program consists of the entire dispersal of the steeplechase stable which belonged to the late Mrs. Corliss Sullivan. With the exception of The Heir, which has been retired, 8 geldings will be sold at a special sale to be held Tuesday morning, October 30 at Pimlico. Beginning at 10:00 a. m., 2 2-year-olds, 2 3-year-olds, 3 4-year-olds and the stakes winner, Quiet, will be sold. Anyone who buys these steeplechasers and prospects get the benefit of their having been broken by Rigan McKinney and trained by him and Raymond Woolfe. The horses are in the rough and their sale is due to a sudden decision to do so by the executors of Mrs. Sullivan's estate.

The program for the Maryland Fall Sales is as follows:

Monday morning, 10:00 a. m. Pimlico—about 40 horses, including Justin Funkhouser's 'chasers *Spleen and *Palaja.

Monday night, 8:00 p. m. Timonium—about 75 yearlings.

Tuesday morning, 10:00 a. m., Pimlico—About 30 horses, headed by the consignment from the Hasty House Farm of A. E. Reuben and Mrs. Sullivan's horses.

Tuesday night 7:00 p. m., Timonium—(sale an hour earlier because of number of horses)—115 mares and foals and the stallions Star Beacon and Selalbeda.

PRESENTING PAINTING

At Deep Run Hunt Club's opening meet tomorrow, C. T. Chenery will be on hand to present to the club the painting of Hill Prince and Trainer Casey Hayes. BACK IN TRAINING

J. Royle's Nickel Coin, the 9-year-old bay mare by Pay Up—Viscum, by Walter Gay, which won the 1951 Grand National at Aintree, England, is back in training. The 15.3 mare was another example of a candidate for the Grand National, which has won this classic despite the handicap of being "too small". The courageous little jumper is being readied by her young farmer-owner for another try at the big prize in 1952.

So far it looks like the personable, compact little campaigner is able to do everything but breed. She has won prizes in the show ring, made a good mount to ride to hounds, and has given her owner, trainer and jockeys all the pleasure that can be derived from having a "good one". —Easy Mark

SHELBURNE DEWDROP

To keep the bench awards straight at the Bryn Mawr Hound Show at Rose Tree as published in the September 14th Chronicle, it is necessary to change the summary of awards in the English Hound class for bitches. The summaries erroneously gave the second award to Cheshire Gayety. This was a championship class and should have read reserve award to Shelburne Dewdrop rather than Cheshire Gayety.

Britain and various areas of the United States and one feels most privileged to have the opportunity to benefit by his wide experience. All who have had the good luck to receive his instruction will never forget it. To become a horseman under his sure guidance and the influence of his peculiarly exhilarating inspiration is indeed a great treat. There are those, who have felt offended by his occasional gruffness, until they realized, that it was a challenge to them. To procure a horse or a person's individual requirements is a particularly strong point with Mr. Chalmers, and he is untiring in his efforts to have his group suitably and happily mounted.

We are all of us greatly saddened by his leaving and we know, that he will be sorely missed in this entire area. Assuredly our hearty good wishes for his health and success follow him, wherever he goes.

Very sincerely

The Friends And Admirers
Of Mr. Chalmers.
